CAPTAIN DOVENER

Will Hold a Great Meeting in the Arion Hall To-night.

THE ESCORT BY THE CLUBS

Before the Meeting will be a Pleasant Feature-All of the Cinh are Called Out for This Meeting and All Should Respond, and Give the Gallant Captain a Reception That He Will Remember. Mr. Adams at the Opera House This Evening.

One of the best meetings of the campaigns will be held this evening in Arion hall, corner of Twentleth and Maln streets, South Side, when the gallant Captain Dovener, will be the principal speaker. Captain Dovener has returned home after a thorough canvass of the First district and believes from the enthuslasm that has greeted him everywhere, that he will win by perhaps an increased majority over 1894. Wheeling should give him a hearty greeting, and there is no doubt but that he will re there is no doubt but that he will receive it.

The Republican marching clubs are called out for escort duty before the Dowener meeting, as will be seen in another column, and none should fail to be out and with nobody missing. It will be the last demonstration by the Republican clubs and for this reason the parade should be one of large proportions and great enthusiasm. The clubs will assemble at their various headquarters and march to the corner of Twelfth and Chapline streets, where the column will be formed. Thence the clubs will march to the Windsor, where the carriage with Captain Doverfer and others will be received. Then the clubs will march down to Arion hall, where the meeting will be held.

was told of, and Bryan came in for some applause, the cue for which was the "rat-tat-tat" of Mr. F. H. Lange's cane on the floor of the platform. Dr. Holt couldn't allow the opportunity to say hard words of Elkins, Hart and other Republican leaders, pass un-heeded.

MR. CAMPBELL ADDRESSES

Large Andlence on the South Side-Illi Money Arguments Were Sound and Convincing—Nr. Bryan's Platitudes. The Republicans and a number of Democrats of the Eighth ward turned ut last night to bear an address by Mr. A. W. Campbell. The meeting was held at the foot of the pole on Chapline, below Forty-third street, and was line, below Forty-third street, and was one of the best of the campaign. The G. W. Atkinson club, Dovener club, and C. B. Hart Cadets turned out to escort the speaker and all made a very creditable showing.

The meeting was called to order by Committeeman Joseph Freese, of Etchle district, who named Mr. William Blon, Republican candidate for legislature, as chairman, Mr. Blon in a brief speech introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. A. W. Campbell, who was received with cheers.

and the continuous and the condition of the speaker introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. A. W. Campbell, who was received with cheers.

Mr. Campbell dwelt principally upon the money question and reviewed the arguments as set forth by the Poporats during the campaign, all of which he answered readily and in a most convincing manner. It was one of the speaker ridiculed the attempt to array one class against another, and showed that when times are hard or panicy the laboring classes are the first to suffer. It said "There never has been in this country any period of panic where the working classes were not the chief sufferers. I can point out to you the recent panic and say that in this community the men of means, of wealth, if you please, are not the people who suffered most. Of course they suffer in their incomes from their investments, but they can take their bask kets to the markets and have them tilled, notwithstanding the condition of affairs. But how about the poor man or the workingman who depends upon his prosperity and the prosperity of the nation?"

The speaker quoted Secretary Carlisle, of the treasury, proclaiming that ha case of the election of Mr. Bryan, a panic would surely ensue. He spoke of the money lenders in New York demanding fifty per cent on their loans, and the fact that the bank of England was not loaning money, fearful of the outcome of next Tuesday's election.

It is common for Mr. Bryan in his speeches to sit up an enmity of one class of people against the other. The rich man according to his theory, has all the money and the proop man has none, but if he is elected, the poor man has none, but if he is elected, the poor man will have all the money and the rich man according to his theory, has all the money shown any business capacity and has failed as a lawyer, a journalist and lecturer. He has never shown any business capacity and has failed as a lawyer, a journalist and lecturer. He has devoted bis time to telling the farmer of the west that every calamity visiting the people i

You have heard about this alleged crime and know how Mr. Bryan has laid at the door of that 'erime', all the ills of this country. The sophistry and wickedness of this whole business is apparent to all, Mr. Bryan has argued that the price of silver regulated the price of wheat. Then if this is true, why is it that wheat in price twenty-three cents and silver has decreased three cents, it was the fablure of the what crop in India and all the free colinage in the world would not increase the price of wheat or of silver. It is noticeable that Mr. Bryan has nothing to say on that subject since wheat began to rise and silver began to fall. to say on that subject since wheat be-gan to rise and silver began to fail. He knows he could not fool the people with such an object lesson staring them in the face.

knows he could not fool the people with such an object leason staring them in the face.

The speaker showed why the present silver dollar coined by the United States has a purchasing power equal to a gold dollar, and why the Mexican dollar has not the purchasing power of gold even in its own country. The American dollar is bncked by gold, and the Mexican dollar is not, therefore it is worth only its bullion value. He said that during his trip abroad, every bank note and every breenback he had was receivable and could be spent for its full value, and said he felt proud to know and to feel that the money of his country was as good abroad as it was at home. He defined the meaning of money and explained the difference between a promise to pay and the money itself.

Suppose Mr. Bryan would be elected. What would be the result? The people would draw on the government's treasury for gold, and the government would have to pay it out as long as the gold lasted. The first thing the people would do would be to draw on the gold reserve fund, that would soon be exhausted then nothing would be left but the silver and paper. Silver would then be redeemable in silver, and it would revert back to its bullion value, and its worth would be gauged by the market value of the silver founds the sub the money the silver for the silver founds by the market value of the silver for the silver founds the pages.

bullion value, and its worth would be gauged by the market value of the silver bullion. The silver dollar would seek its level just as surely as water seeks its level.

"My fellow citizens, if you could but see and know this question, you would know it is something to recoil from. Mr. Brysn never tells you that wages to-day are higher than they were in 1873 nor does he call to you mind the fact, that the dollar of to-day has a greater purchasing power than it had in 1873. You chasing power than it had in 1873. You chasing power than it had in 1873. You clein number of cars will be on the train to seat everyhody. chasing power than it had in 1873. You who were living and doling business then, know as well as 1 do, that your dollar of to-day buys more than the dollar of '73."

Mr. Campbell called attention to the condition of the silver countries and compared it to that of the gold standard nations of the world. He challenged any person to name one silver country in the world that paid its workingmen a fair day's warges for a fair day's work. He said he would like to have the opportunity to ask Mr. Bryan a few questions on the money question. If he had such an opportunity he would ask him to explain what he meant by the assertion that the dollar has been made unaturally dear. He would ask him what the volume of money was in 1873 and what it is now; how much silver had been coined since. He told his audience of the amount of silver coined into dollars, and the amount coined into subsidiary coin up to the date of the alleged "crime" and the amount coined since that time and asked if they thought that when no silver dollars were being coined, that such a thing as a crime against silver was possible. Since 1873 the treasury department has coined three times the amount of silver coined previous to that year, and siti Mr. Bryan claims that the people have been robbed of half their currency. He says prices are too low, that we should be compelled to pay mare for our entables and wearing apparel.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The Renwood Development Still the Leading Feature-The Advance in Oil will be Followed by a Drop Early in Novem-The only thing of more than ordinary interest in the oil business during this week so far has been the advance in the price of credit balances. For some time the market prices of the crude petroleum had been $1.14, and did not seem very strong at that price, and none of the operators would have been very much surprised if it had taken a tumble instead of advancing. The price of the greasy fluid went up three cents and it looks very much as though it might looks very much as though it might still go a little higher. There is no reason why it should not. For the past six months there has been every indication that oll would advance, but it did not. There have been no wells of any importance aside from the production to its owners and the reports of the pipe line companies have been so builtsh that it was thought sure that the greasy stuff would take an upward bound. The advance at this time in the month is accounted for in this way: The pipe lines are needing the oil that the producers have been helding back all month in hope that the article would go up and the pipe lines have raised the price to get them to sell. This is a scheme that almost always works and after the first of the month oil will go down again.

The Fisher Oil Company has a fishing job at No. 5, on the Shal farm, at Cochranville, just below Sistersville, and have mousetrapped the cable and will attempt to get the tools out.

Job at No. 3, on the Shal rarm, at Coentanyille, just, below Slatersville, and have mousetrapped the cable and will attempt to get the tools out.

There seems to be a little excitement on the Ohio side of the river at Buck Hill bottom, near Proctor. Some years ago a Cincinnati company drilled in a well there that had a good show of oil, but after it had been drilled in the casing was pulled and the well, which would have been a good producer had it been handled properly, was abandoned. It is understood that the Standard Oil Company has secured a large number of leases in that section and is going to give its holdings a thorough test.

There is a large amount of work being done in the Bernwood territory now and within the mext couple of week there should be at least a half dozen of wells drilled into the pay. The wells being drilled over there are in all directions from the first wells drilled and will define the pool on all sides.

The Fisher Oil Company's No. 1, on the Cohrs farm, about which so much has been said lately, has been drilled deeper, and is tubed and pumping. An inquiry about the well elicited the information that it was doing as good as the other wells of that company that were pumping.

One of the most important wells in the Benwood territory that will be in soon is that of Ramey & Company, on the Stalder farm. This well is located almost a mile east of developments in that section and as a result the talent are watching it very closely. The six and one-ounter casing was put in the well and it should reach the pay the early part of the coming week.
